BOUNTIES TO VETER ANS.

Col. Fig. Provist Marshal General, writes to Gen. Sarnsworth, that veterans, enlisting in the cavalry regiment which he is rusing, will receive four hundred and hee dollars bounty. the soldiers of the army would be entired each to a Major General's commander, all the soldiers of the army would be entired each to a Major General's commission. He is not worthy of confidence as the leader of an army seventy thousand trong, solely because he has the courage and dash which make him, in an hour of langer, rush, at the head of a column, pellinell into the thickest of the fight. Every has who bravely follows him is his peer at the qualities thus displayed. No; the leaders commanding is the brain of his may. I socioc the Copperhead papers are no whe spattering with praise one Charles M. Williard, formerly Major in the last Illinois artillery. When he was with the my, I never heard much said in his praise by this class of papers. Perhaps they did not have much to app. Or, more likely, it is apprinciple with them not to speak well of a mon who wears shoulder straps. However this may be, now that Willard is making Copperhead speeches and running with K. G. C. snothing too high in his praise can be said. I have noticed that Willard occasionally visita this part of the State, and that while here he is in close counselling opensed ariznd majorance to the Government, and who are suspected of providing arms for the organization of military companies, raised on the recommendation of State, and that State and other singlety and others independent of the Governor, Adjutant General.

eins, and certainly by the assistance of his soldiers. The node of operation was advertised and cumingly devised. Truesdail would report to Gen Rosserans that "Mejor" Russell had discovered at a certain place, generally twenty or thirty miles distant from the line of our pickets, a small hand of generalises or a dept of provisions for the rebein army. Wagons would thereupon be rent out, under a strong cavalry accord; but they generally returned taken with cotton instead of with bacon or grain. Very rarely indeed were guerilise breight in by these expeditions, though sometimes parties would be captured who could not have been guilty of any great trime, as they were invariably released after taking the cash of allegiance. So satisfied was Gen. Grant that the whole was gross abuse, that he turned the whole of the operators out of the srmy.

Truesdail would probably have found "his occupations gone," had not General Rosserans about this time been placed in command of this tian he hied him off to Bowling Green. He was prouply relaxated as "chief of the army police," When the Army of the Cumberland arrived at Noshville, "Colonel" Truesdail took a house at the corner of Church and High alter's, and did a quief, and, we suspect, profitable business for a lew weeks. By that time his force was fully opganized and his office to a howe owned by Zollicofier's daughter, while for his own headquarters he took the elegant mansion of Dr. Jennings, located at the Corner of High and Gedar utreets, and then ceforth the chief of the army police was second only to teneral Rosserans. He assumed the entire charge of the malts, letters, newspapers, de, to and from the array, farming out this profitable monopoly to his son and a man named Scott, who both rapidly acquired wealth by it. Again Gov. Johnson remonstrated with Gen. Rosecrans about these proceedings, but the Gen. turned a seat car to his appeals. It passed, in fact, into a by-word, that William Trueddil was Commander in Ohne of the Army of the Cumberland. Wearied with his fruitless efforts to obtain from Gen. Resecrans a remedy for this cytl, and becoming arriving about the consequences if it were permitted to continue, the satisfied Governor repaired to this city and Circumstances at the time were unfavorable for grappling with it, and for. Johnson returned home disappointed. Truesdail was now in the meridian of his power, and he exercised it unbitablingly. He began to boast that he could not be removed, and it was the common talk, especially among officers from Grant's army, who redded Lemwille, that he had a hold non den Roserans while would one day festory the latter. Of course the Gineral's reputation was sentonic damaged Truesdail with dishonesty, and Roserans with proteinpaining in it. When Lee's force was massed at Sperry this, and cased or the large part of the part of Gen. Meade direct on the repel line of communications, and by an advance on the part of Gen. Meade direct on Gordonaville he would have brought Lee promptly back to attend to the memored assist of the rebel capital, and he might have, in a strong position, given the rebel forty thousand battle with double that force. This would have been to repeat the brilliant strategy of Turenne, who, when his opponent, Montecaulli crossed to the left bank of the Rhins to invade Alexce, himself passed to the right bank, and thus brought Montecaulli harriedly back to look after his ewn communications. Turenne had no Washington to look after. Meade was boand, at all basards, to cover the capital, and could not possibly afford to risk a battle with his face to the Fotomac. The conduct of Gen. Meade was pradent, and, under the circumstances, probably the best possible; but, in a purely military point of view, a line of action was open to him which was not only prudent, but, in an arterordinary degree, bold and deplaire, which his oftentimes the best kind of pradence.

A temporary hall has been exceted adjoining flyss Rail on the east, for the reception of the heavy and bility machinery which have been contributed to the bunefit of the Falt by the manufactures and other potential properties. The contributions in this department have been very liberal, and embrace almost every article of farm and household economy. They are already sufficient in number and importance for a good sized State Falt. The articles thus contributed were mostly manufactured by the contributors especially for the purpose, and are of course made of the best material and the very heat style of workmanship. We give a cashingue of the contributions to this department, and we would suggest to our friends who may be in want of the articles mand, that here is just the place to purchase. They will be sure of getting a first class article, and at the same than will be contributing their mits in a biessed charity. The following articles may be found for sale in the Machinery Rail.

HANDSON'S CONVERGUTION.—One of the most pointed festures of interest to the sadience which gethered at Bryan Hall restreetly, was a silver plate Conductor's lantern, seen on the first table at the left as you enter the hell. This lant table at the left as you enter the hell. This lantern was made and contributed to the Northwestern Pair, by Mr. J. F. Griffin, as and a Prankin street, whose skill in producing attractive lanterns is well known to the public. The instern is of a vary heavy plate. The prior was put at $20, and we understand it was immediately "pre-empted" by one of our go a-head Board of. Trade mes, on its appearance in the hall. But Mr. Griffin is an duplicate it. Engraved on the glass in a beautiful scroll, in the moin. "The Union Fourer." Mr. Griffin is as the manningstance of the calebrated Irwin's patent knowner. PURE PATRIOTISM Becent Action of the Council

The Copperhent machine called the Common Council seems suddenly to have been overcome by a most overwhealming same of duty. A party which claims to be par excellence, the party of law and constitution, and who are so shocked at every deviation from the letter of the law present a most gay and feathre appearance by their action night before last.

Where now also Dick Merrick and Wabash Fuller? They never can shark any violation of law—that everybody knows. Now the city charter provides that, "whenever, at any election, it shall appears that there have been more than aix hundred votes polled in any election precist, it les hereby made the duty of the Common council, at least how mapatha before the recurrence of snother election, to divide such precist into two or more districts and appoint places for holding elections therein. The evident purpose of shale section of the charter was undoubloofly to furnish every voter an opportunity to vote, and also to mark out the precist a wifficient length of time beforehand to let everybody know where the place of voting was. Now, one or two inderesces may be drawn from the great anxiety of the Common Council to change the voting precincts and places, at their necessing slight before last. Pirat, that "no elec-

The Cultidren's Concert for the Pair, at Metropolitan Hall, lest evening, was a great success. The hall was crowded to its atmost capacity, so as to leave not a foot of standing or sitting room but what was occupied. Of those prosess, a large proportion was from shroad, showing how largely the Fair is participated in by persons from other places. The children not only sang with great sweetness, but with a clear distinct causedation that rendered all their songs perfectably intelligible to the saidtence. That laughing song was encound wildly by the listeners, who generally issued in the laugh with them. The young ladies who performed in soio and dust crisced unusual culture and accomplishment. The "Becutiful Snow," played by a little girl on the piano and sung by the full chorus of two bindred children, was most beautifully rendered. The chorus to "Pailly Journal the Flag" was given by the well sufficience with great effect. The larp soios were played with exqualte taste and skill by Miss Dean, act won warm applanes.
